The Historical Background

Bach Flower Therapy was developed in the 1930s by Dr. Edward Bach, an English physician and homeopath. Frustrated with conventional medicine's focus on physical ailments, Bach sought to explore the emotional roots of illness. Through meticulous experimentation with various flowers, Bach identified 38 specific remedies intended to target particular emotional states.

The Philosophical Foundation

At its core, Bach Flower Therapy is based on the belief that emotional disturbances disrupt the body's natural balance, potentially leading to physical health issues. The therapy aims to address these emotional imbalances directly, thereby supporting the body's innate healing capacity. The philosophy emphasizes that harmony of mind and spirit is essential for overall health, and that emotional well-being is just as vital as physical health.

Key principles include:

Popular remedies include:

- Rescue Remedy (a blend for emergencies)
- Mimulus (for fear of known fears)
- Walnut (for transitions and change)
- Cherry Plum (for fear of losing control)
