Design and Visual Approach

Illustration Style and Visual Engagement

One of the defining features of "Making Faces" is its vibrant, expressive illustrations. The artwork employs bold colors and exaggerated facial expressions, designed to capture children's attention and make emotions easily recognizable. The characters are diverse in appearance, reflecting various ages, ethnicities, and genders, which underscores an inclusive approach to emotional education.

The illustrations are simple yet expressive, allowing children to focus on facial features that communicate specific feelings. For example, a wide, open mouth with raised eyebrows depicts happiness, while furrowed brows and a downturned mouth convey sadness. This visual clarity aligns with research indicating that infants and toddlers often rely heavily on facial cues to interpret emotions.

Layout and Accessibility

The book employs a clean, uncluttered layout with minimal text accompanying each illustration. Each page presents a single emotion, labeled clearly with a large, legible font. The simplicity of design caters to young readers' developmental stages, avoiding overwhelming details and emphasizing core emotional expressions.

Content and Pedagogical Approach

Emotion Range and Categorization

"Making Faces" introduces a curated list of common emotions, typically including:

- Happiness
- Sadness
- Anger

- Fear
- Surprise
- Disgust

Some editions extend to more nuanced feelings like jealousy, pride, or frustration, but the core focus remains on fundamental emotions. Each emotion is presented through a face illustration accompanied by a brief, age-appropriate description or question, such as "Can you make a happy face?" or "What makes you feel sad?"

This approach aligns with the pedagogical principle of modeling emotions visually and verbally, encouraging children to recognize and mimic these expressions to internalize understanding.
